Bio-Data

List of the Papers of Delhi Police Special Branch Records (I To X Inst.)

Till the Punjab Police Act was passed in 1861 by the British, the police stations were in general known as Kotwali. Even now the oldest police station in Delhi at Chandni Chowkis known as Kotwali Police Station. The police stations maintained different categories of records, such as the non-current records, FIRs, Intelligence reports, CID records, etc.Keeping in view their academic significance, the NMML has procured the following category of records from Delhi, Bombay and U.P.:

a) Delhi Police Special Branch, Non- Current Records (1915-76);
b) First Information Reports (FIRs) from police Headquarters, Delhi (1861-1960)

The Delhi Police Special Branch Non-Current Records comprise roughly 2487 files covering the period 1915-76. These records throw light on terrorist/extremist activities, communal/refugee problems, trade union and student movements, activities of foreign nationals in India, political activities of the Akalis, the Communist Party, the Forward Bloc, the ‘Quit India’ movement, activities of the Hindu Mahasabha, RSS and Bhartiya Jan Sangh, Praja Parishad and INA movements.
